

KEVIN FENG, Formerly of VH1's "The Pick-up Artist: Season 2"

ABCs of Attraction Certified Coach

A successful pick up artist must have a true desire to improve, whether it comes from a place of pain or weakness, or just an overwhelming desire for self-improvement. - Kevin

Kevin Feng is the ABCs of Attraction's certified celebrity. Fresh off of his appearance on VH1's "The Pick-up Artist: Season 2," Kevin began a concentrated two-month boot camp with the Asian Playboy, who morphed him into a pick-up monster.

After years of failure with women, Kevin Feng was close to giving up on romance altogether. But fortunately, he was afforded the rare opportunity to star VH1's now famous series, and develop his pick-up skills under the tutelage of some of the best in the world. As a result, Kevin has been extensively trained by several PUA community leaders and icons, including Mystery, Matador and the Asian Playboy.

Now a master at the ABCs, Kevin has taught dozens of students the art of attraction. He has a unique ability to connect with his students, as it wasn't that long ago that he was in their shoes. He specializes in helping students improve their self-image, whether it be through workout tips or fashion advice, or helping them to develop concrete goals and means of execution.

Currently based in Tampa, Florida, Kevin is often seen partying with the stars, as well as some of the hottest women in the southeast.
